

In the AI era, companies need designers more than ever. In fact, our latest study suggests that AI is actually driving renewed momentum in design hiring. We unpack why that is, what hiring people interact with companies through digital storefronts, businesses across industries—like retail, publishing, and aviation—are hiring designers to strengthen their online presence, create more compelling experiences, and deliver new value to customers.

compared to the same period in 2024. Looking ahead, expectations remain strong—40% of hiring managers plan to open more headcount in the next six months.

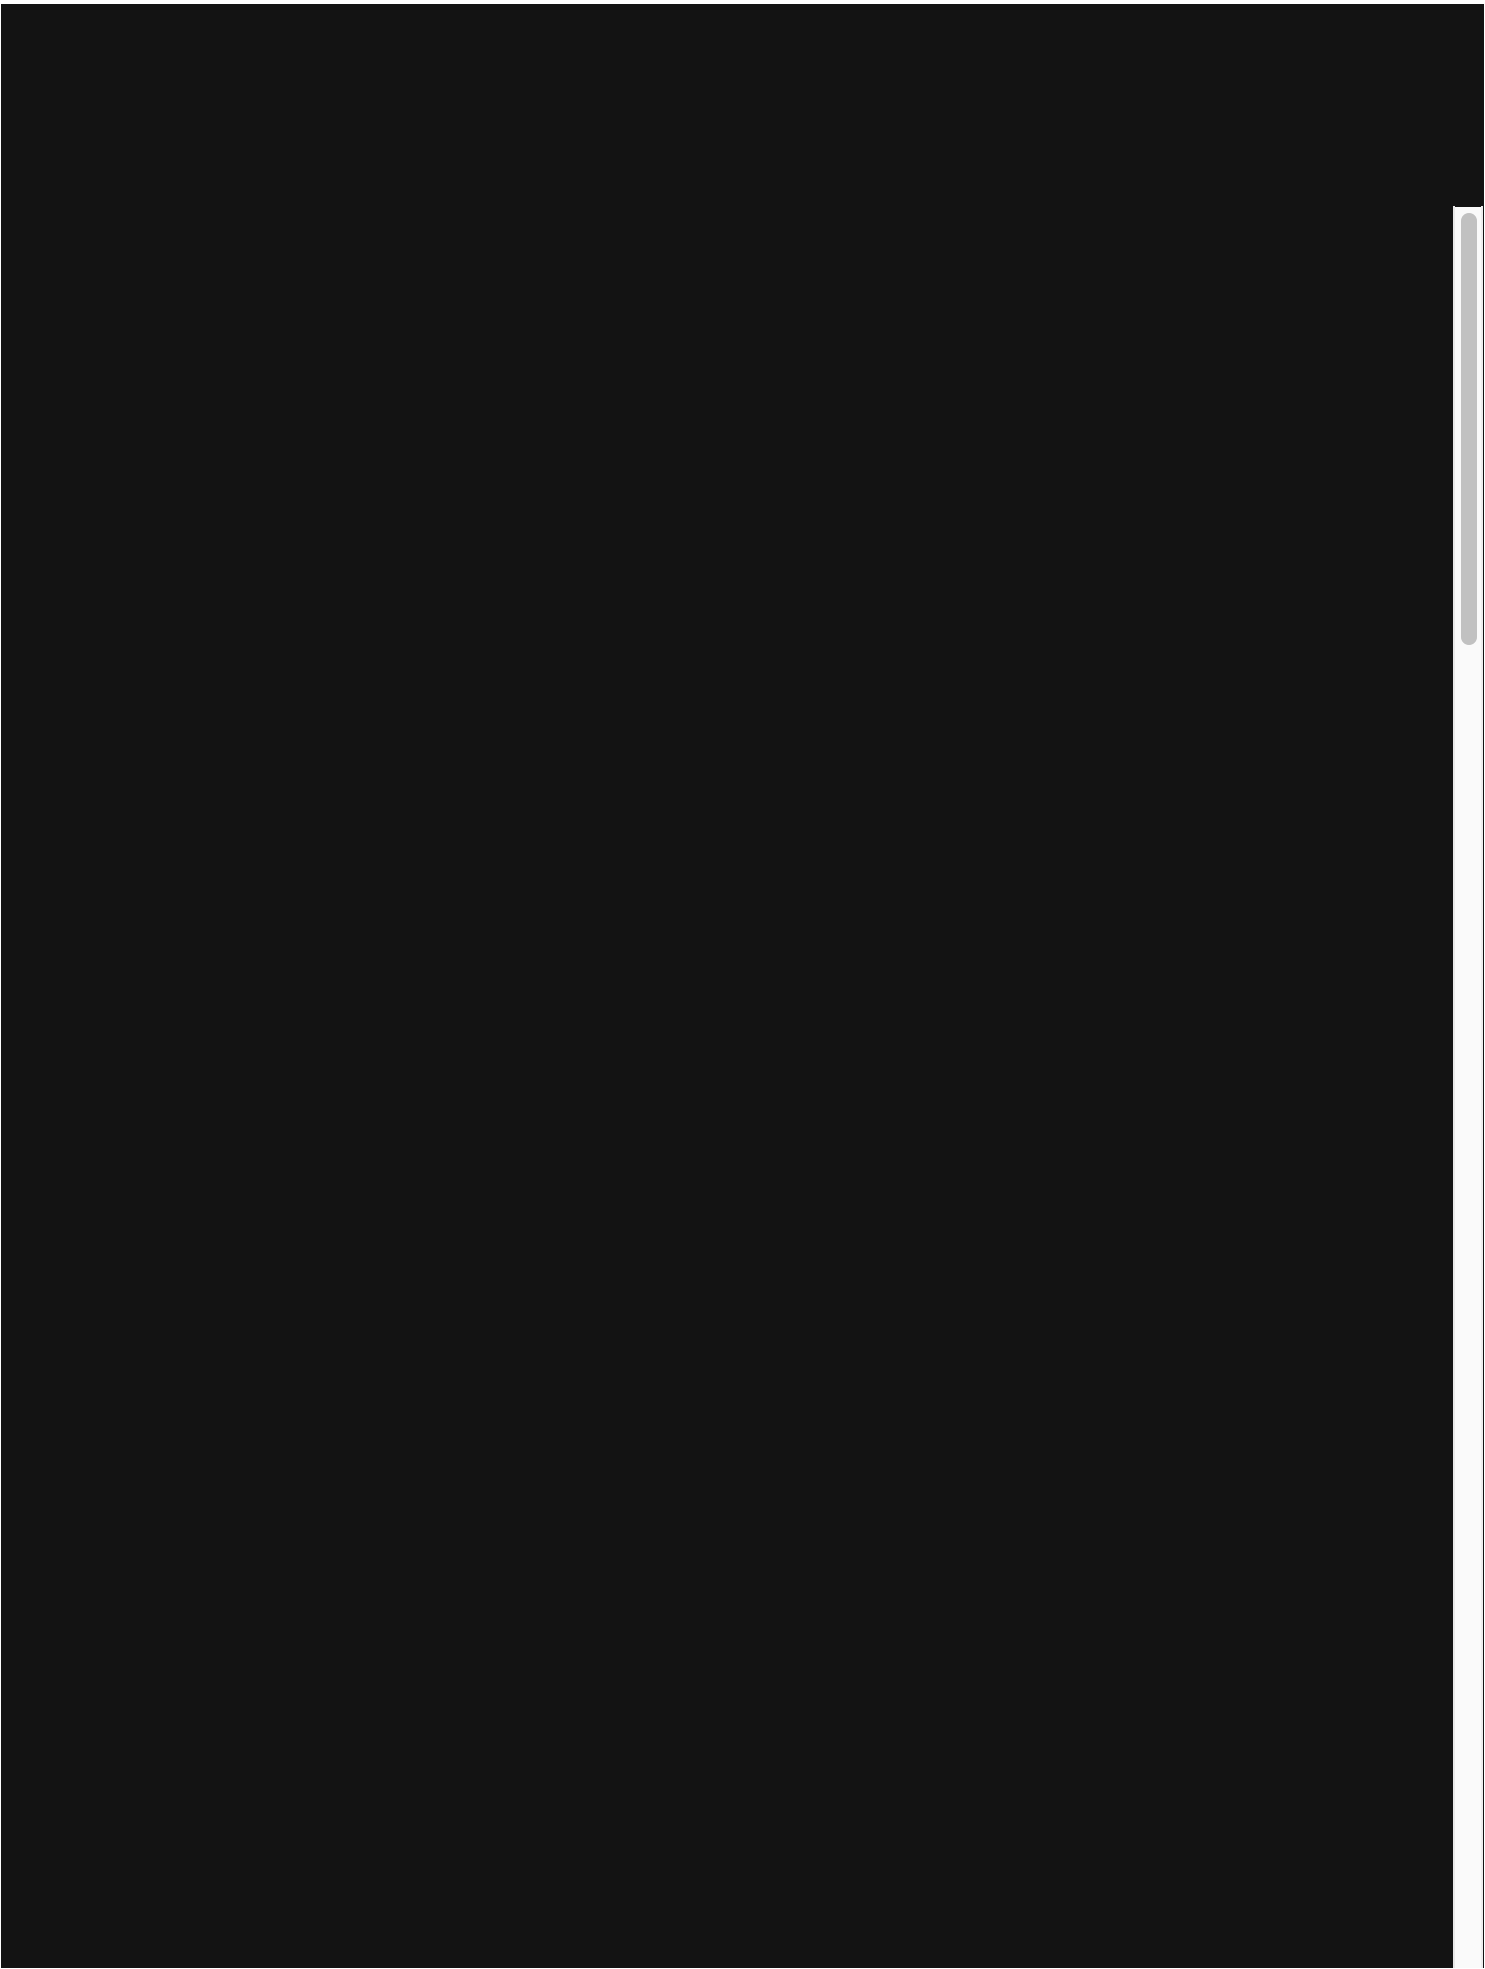

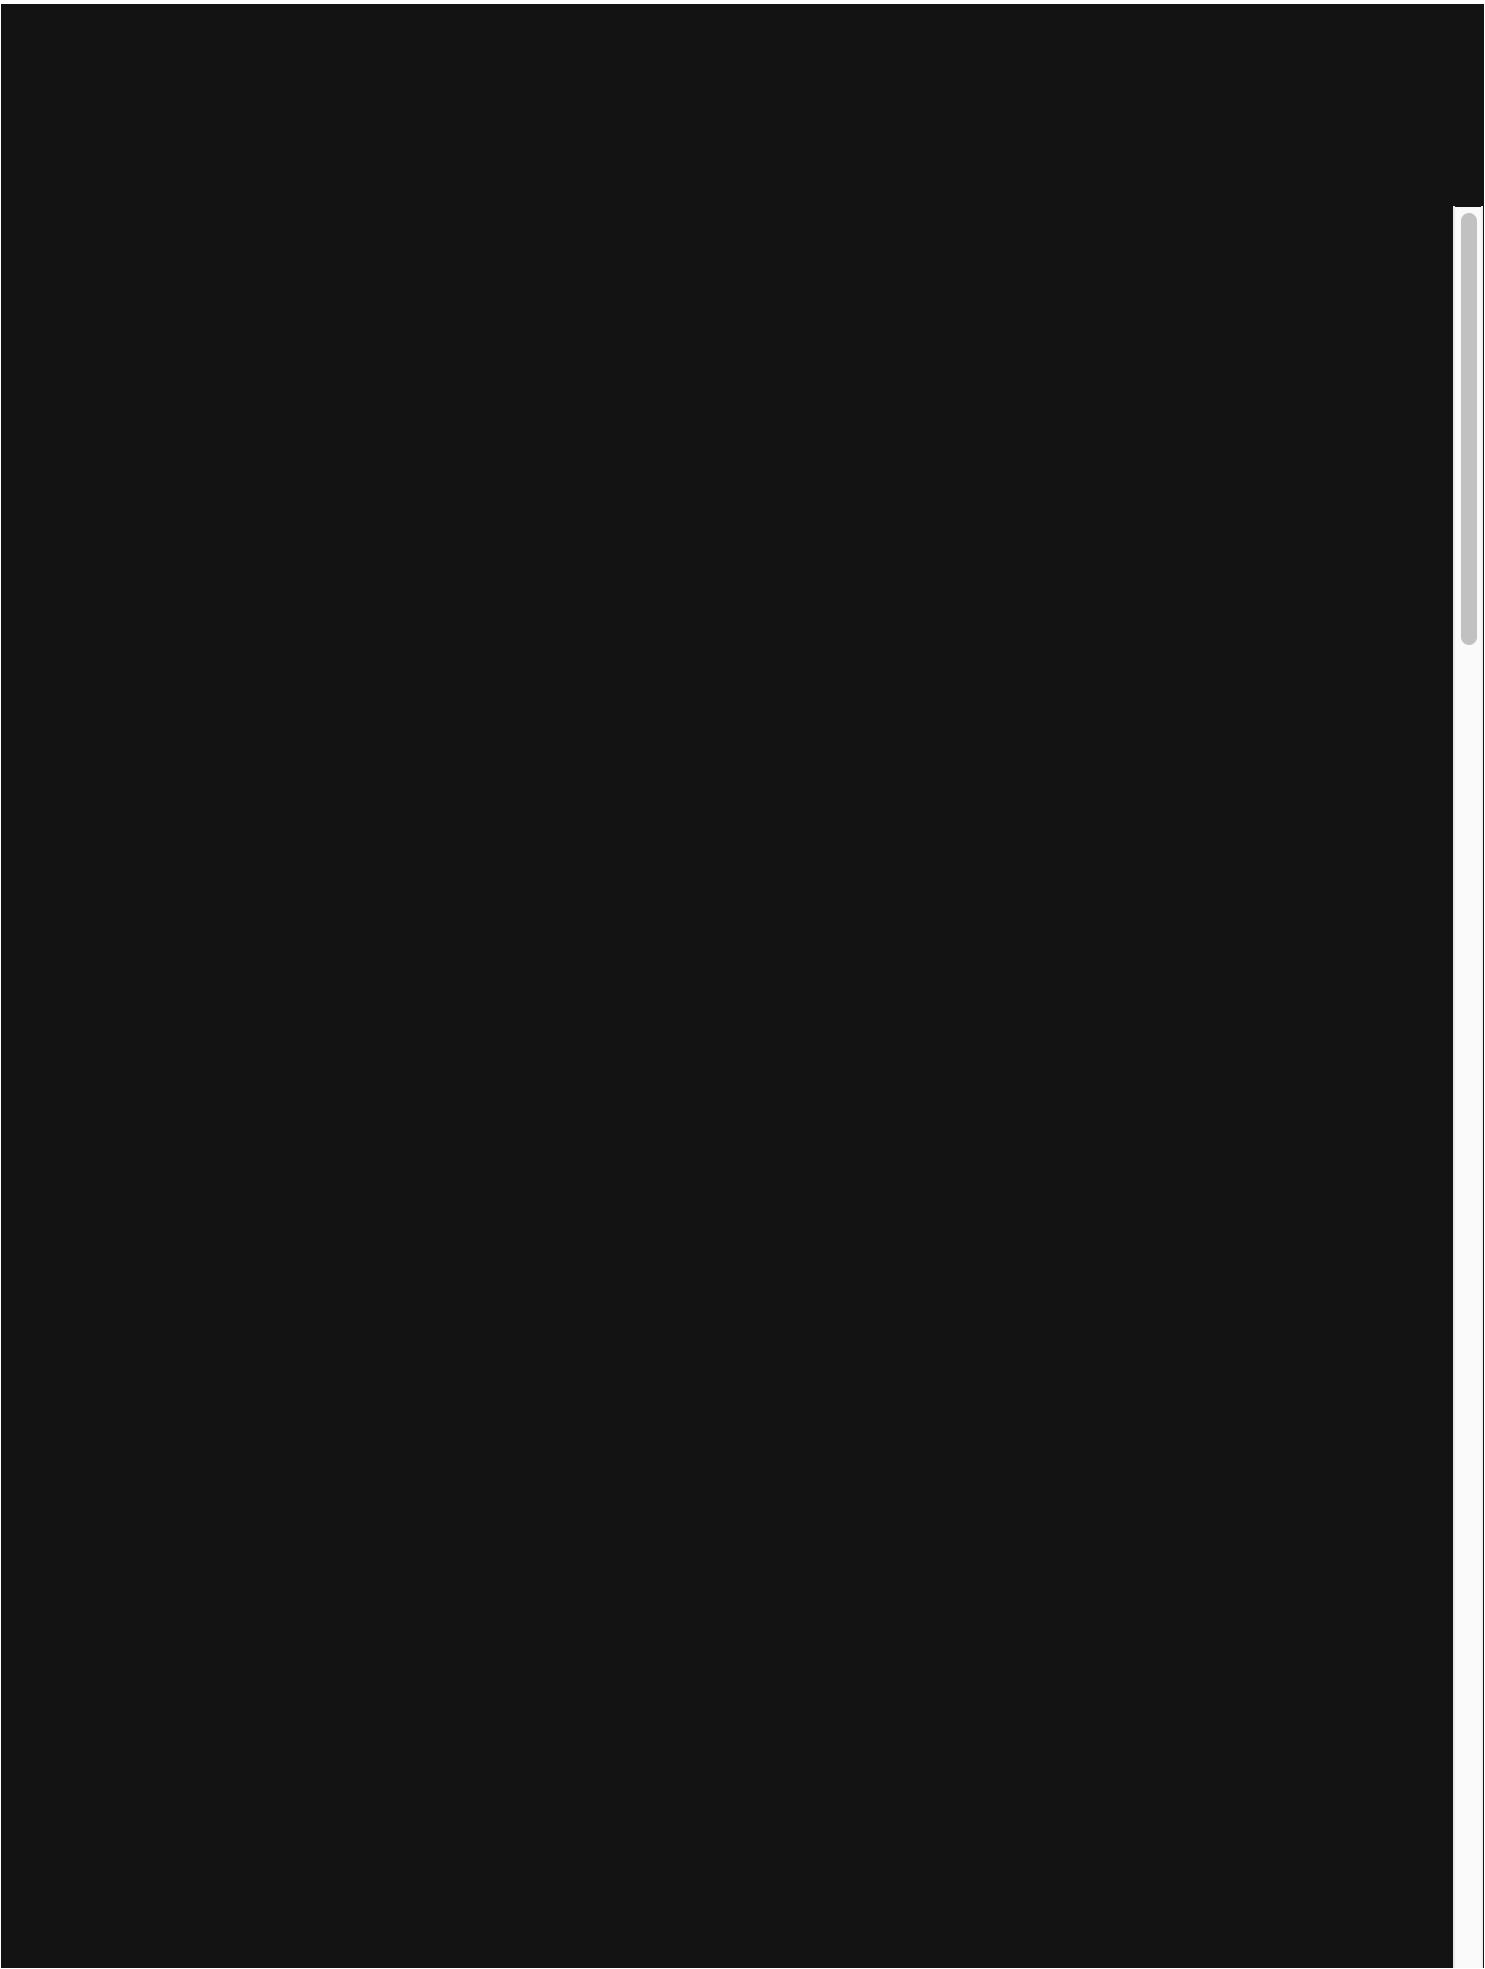

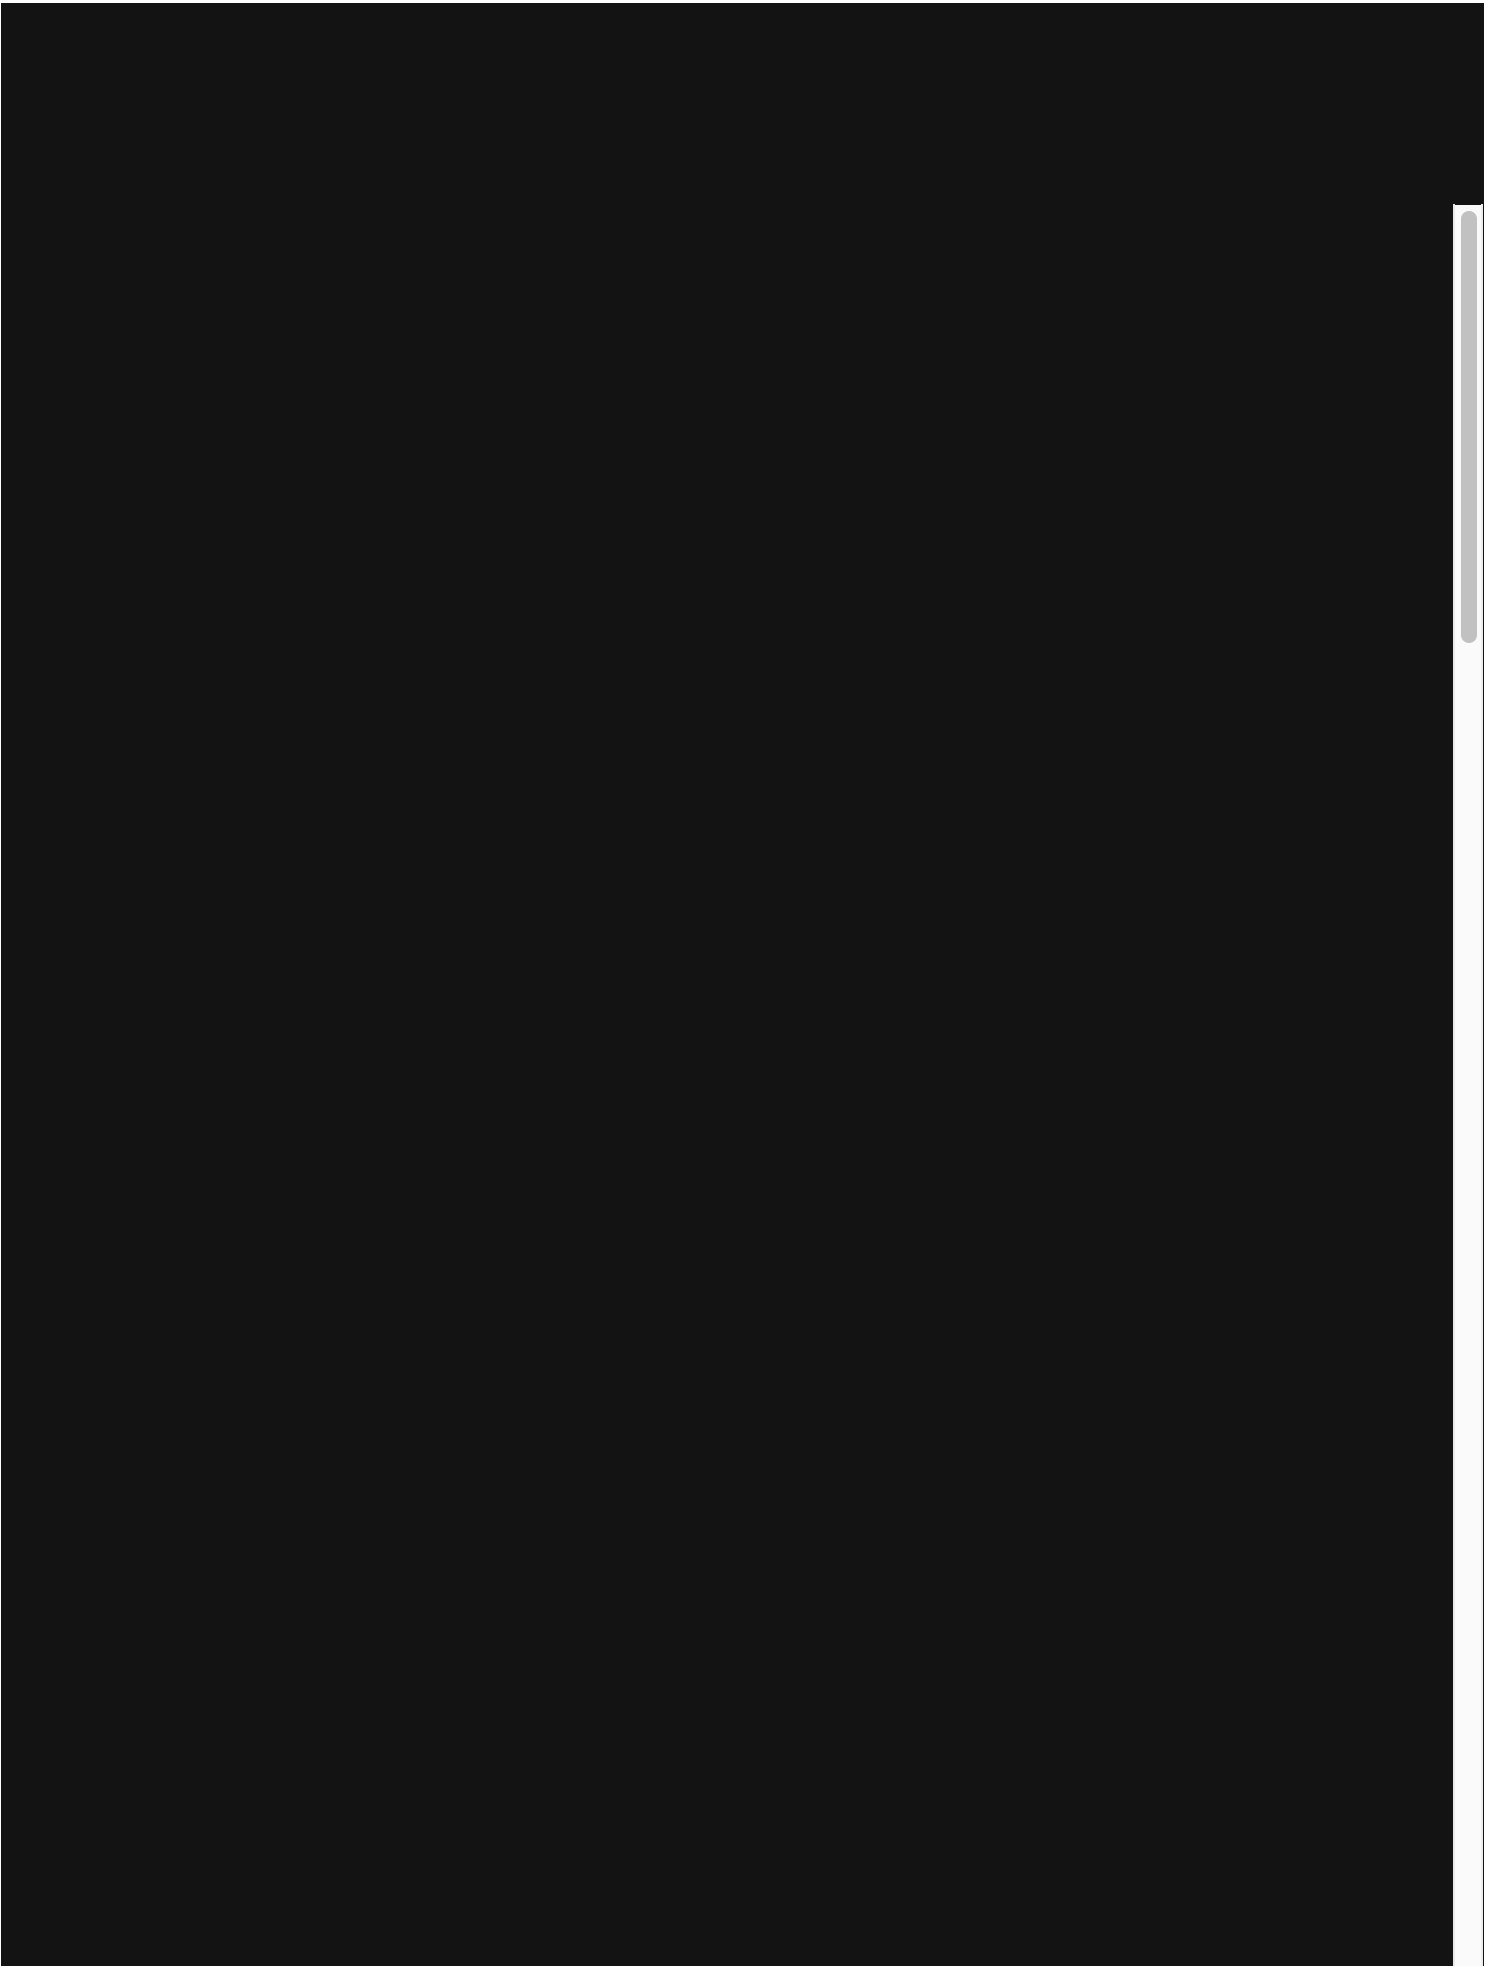

[top-tier] design, but are only willing to hire one person. Great design teams [have] multiple people with complementary strengths—not a single superhero."

automation—as critical. “I still hire for evergreen skills: qual/quant, usability, UX, and cross-functional facilitation,” says one design manager.

And taste and intuition take an increasingly important role in hiring, particularly as more
